

The Photoplay Man-About-Town

When Manager Amsterdam took over the West Allegheny Theatre, he promised a new kind of program for the patrons. He is now giving one composed of subjects from the many producers. Mr. Amsterdam spends his leisure time looking after the details of a busy exchange and the Amber Theatre in Kensington.

The Market street theatres are now securing their programs through the Stanley Booking Company, which insures the patrons the best pictures and early presentations.

Mark M. Dittenfuss was a recent visitor at the Liberty Studio in Germantown. He represents the Universal Company now, but was associated with the first movies in this city.

The World Film Corporation has rented ed the studio for a special feature. This city is an ideal spot for the making of motion pictures, as it is rich in scenic and historical value.

The Chamber of Commerce should get after the producers and try to induce them to locate here.

The moving-picture studio located at 48th street and Parkside avenue will take on an appearance of activity in the near future if the rumors now being circulated materialize.

Before Walter Jacobs, manager of the Imperial, entered the picture field he was an instructor in wrestling.

Arrangements are nearing completion for the presentation of vaudeville at the Lincoln and Point Breeze Theatres.

William Crozer, the manager of Logan

Auditorium, is a singer and Sunday school teacher. Whenever the opportunity comes to accompany the picture with a song he uses this method and it meets with hearty approval. This week he sang "Silver Threads Among the Gold" during the showing of the picture.

Allen-May, now star salesman of the local branch of the World Film Corporation, was the first singer to use stereopticon slides. This led to the coining of "Illustrated Songs." He was at the Family Theatre, Market and Juniper streets, for several years.

Regular weekly meetings of the Motion Picture Exhibitors' League will be held every Friday at noon in the rooms, 1337 Vine street. The big subject now is the coming movie ball.

Mr. Hanna, of the Pastime Theatre, wants to have the name Pastime-copyrighted. We know where he can buy a number of "Bijou," "Palace," "Dreamland" and other signs.

There is no truth in the rumor that Manager Hebrew, of the V. L. S. E. office, is going to resign.

Operations on the new theatre at 56th and Pine streets are rapidly nearing completion.

Francis X. Bushman was a matinee idol at the Camden Temple Theatre not so many years ago.

The position of "Booker" in a film exchange is just as important as that of a train dispatcher. Each sees that the right show or train is sent to the theatre or town at the proper time and date.

The Broad Street Theatre has yet to be invaded with the celluloid show.
